Well, gang! Spring is here again, and you know what they say about that! Spring is the time of year when a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love! So how come you're reading this junk, when you should be out chasing girls? Anyway, you'll get plenty of laughs out of this issue of MAD, especially from them girls who see you reading it! So why not take your copy out into the fields where green shoots are just beginning to poke through the thawing earth, and buds are starting to burst, and nobody's around to see you making a fool of yourself!—ALF.

MAD — June 1959, Volume 1, Number 47, is published monthly except February, May, August and November, by E.C. Publications, Inc. at 225 Lafayette Street, New York 12, New York. Second Class Postage paid at New York, N. Y. Subscriptions, 9 issues for $2.00 in the U.S. Elsewhere, $2.50. Entire contents copyright 1959 by E.C. Publications, Inc. The Publisher and Editors will not be responsible for unsolicited manuscripts and request all manuscripts be accompanied by a stamped, self-addressed return envelope. The names of characters used in all MAD fiction and semi-fiction are fictitious. A similarity without satiric purpose to a living person is a coincidence. Printed in U.S.A.

COMBINED TELEVISION SHOWS 4

By combining two popular TV shows, they'd double the audience, double the Trendex, and mainly make each twice as nauseating.

LITTLE LEAGUE 16

MAD predicts that this "Junior Edition" of our great American game will help kill off Big League Baseball faster than TV.

CREDIT CARDS 20

With today's Credit Cards, you can say "Charge it!" to everything except that statement the Credit Card Companies send monthly.

SID CAESAR 24

Sid Caesar, whose shows make television - viewing respectable, tries to do the same for MAD... but a miracle-worker he ain't!

JACK AND JILL 28

This article, which shows how other magazines would treat the same story in their own styles, is in MAD's own style: idiotic!

THE GREATEST MISSILE 35

MAD scoops the magazines of the nation by presenting this first report of the greatest missile ever built. So look out below!

MOVIE POSTERS 37

It can't seem to make the movies better than ever, so now Hollywood's trying to make the posters that sell 'em better than ever.

ALFRED'S GIRL FRIEND

How are the chances of getting rid of Alfred E. Neuman's new girlfriend? The only reason I buy MAD is because I'm in love with Alfie, and if I can't go on dreaming... well, what's the use?

Nancy Rice
Memphis, Tenn.

You guys are slipping! On the cover of your March issue, you show Alfred and his girlfriend, what's-her-name, encircled by a heart. That was okay, but... don't you think it would have been hilarious had you placed the lipstick mark on his girlfriend's cheek, and left Alfred's cheek clean? Just a suggestion from an ardent fan. I truly enjoyed the rest of the issue.

Peggy O'Neill
Marymount College
Tarrytown-on-Hudson, N. Y.

Funnier Gag?

Alf's girlfriend seems to be showing up more and more often in each issue. So what's her name?

Edward Lacombe
Troy, N. Y.

We still haven't found out her name! Maybe you readers have some suggestions.—Ed.

GOOD FOR SOMETHING

Contrary to popular opinion, Alfred E. Neuman is actually good for something. I used his smiling countenance as a device in a campaign for Vice-President of Sterling Junior High... and in spite of it, I was elected. Bravo for Al! Enclosed is a picture of me holding one of the successful posters. In gratitude...

Pam Blandin
Sterling, Colo.

Bravo for you, Pam... and you're under arrest!—Ed.

AFRICA SPEAKS

Two years ago I discovered MAD and started to read it. My friends all thought I was crazy. Then they found my copies and started to read it, too. Now they're just as crazy! All joking aside, though, congratulations on a wonderful magazine with a continually high standard of material. Never yet have I found one dull article in MAD, even though the satire sometimes escapes me, not being clued up on all the American subjects you attack. Fortunately, this is seldom. Keep up the excellent work.

HERE'S A CLEVER MOTHER'S DAY GIFT

"MAD FOR KEEPS" makes a clever Mother's Day gift, mainly because once she thumbs through this hard-cover de-luxe anthology of the best from MAD (containing 128 pages of riotous material (many in vivid color) that originally appeared in the magazine through 1956 and is unavailable in any other form), she'll throw it away! And then it'll be all yours! So send $2.98 to...

OLD LINE ADMIRAL

Your "Editorial Cartoons" drawn by comic strip artists was great, but as a Navy Man, I want to point out the inaccuracy of the uniform worn by the "Old Line Admiral". Who ever heard of an Admiral with seven stripes on his sleeve?

George Walters, Ens. USN
FPO, San Francisco, Calif.

Too Many Stripes?

Those weren't stripes to show rank, Georgel! Our Admiral's sleeves are rolled up, and he's wearing striped pajamas underneath! —Ed.

SPACE MEDICINE

I've been reading that our scientists are concerned that men in rockets to outer space might crack because of the isolation and stillness. May I suggest that these space pioneers read MAD before their trips. MAD's mind-rotting articles should prepare them for the very worst.

Wallingford, Conn.

PHOTO CAPTION

As soon as I finished your article on "Photos of Poetry in Motion", I took a picture of my mother which I titled: "The regal and protective majesty of motherhood manifests itself as the female parent renders the MAD periodical into myriad strips, and consigns the pulp to the insatiable disposal unit." I would've sent the photo along with my caption but there wasn't any film in the camera.

THERE'S HOPE FOR MAD

You will be pleased to know that we of Hope College's radio voice read MAD in it's entirety every month, and that we are constantly amazed at the keen humor we find on every page, as well as in and around the margins. Along with the staff of WTAS and myself, we have another avid fan of your magazine worth mentioning. He is a student who has recently come to this country from The Netherlands. He finds MAD absolutely a panic, and he never fails to comment that he marvels at the fact that Americans can poke fun at the very things which characterize us as Americans. Keep up the good work.

==SEARCH FOR PARADISE with A STREETCARNAMED DESIRE

According to Psychologists, most of us clods prefer to follow the "herd instinct" — that is, we prefer to think, look and act alike — which makes us all CONFORMISTS!

Now and then, however, a few clods with imagination break away from the "herd" — and try hard to think, look and act different — which makes them all NON-CONFORMISTS!

Only nowadays, more and more clods are trying to be different, so there are more and more NON-CONFORMISTS! And all these NON-CONFORMISTS are so busy CONFORMING to not being CONFORMISTS, they all wind up CONFORMING to their NON-CONFORMISM!

All except for a small group of bravely idiotic MAD readers — to whom this article is dedicated — mainly because, in this article, we explain in nauseating detail...

HOW TO BE A MAD NON-CONFORMIST

ONLY MAD NON-CONFORMISTS ACHIEVE GENUINE ORIGINALITY AS

MUSIC

ORDINARY CONFORMISTS

... play insipid show scores, dismal pop tunes conducted by Jackie Gleason, sickening dance music by Guy Lombardo, rock n' roll hits by Ricky and Elvis, and occasional works of Gershwin and Tchaikovsky on complicated hi-fi sets.

ORDINARY NON-CONFORMISTS

... play obscure folk songs sung by obscure folk, dull chamber music played in dull chambers, Wagnerian operas in their entirety, Gregorian chants, and readings of minor Welsh poets on super-complicated stereo hi-fi sets.

MAD NON-CONFORMISTS

... play bird calls, tap dancing and exercise lessons, transcriptions of Senate Committee hearings, Gallagher & Shean, The Singing Lady, and theme music from famous monster movies on easy-to-operate hand-wound victrolas.

CLOTHING

ORDINARY CONFORMISTS

... wear narrow-shouldered charcoal-grey Ivy League suits, button-down shirts with tight collars, silly caps, cramped Italian style shoes. Females wear Empire dresses and shoes with spike heels that constantly break off.

ORDINARY NON-CONFORMISTS

... wear sloppy-looking sweatshirts, grimy blue jeans, arch-crippling sandals, and scratchy beards. Among the females of this group, leotards are usually substituted for blue jeans, and the scratchy beards are optional.

MAD NON-CONFORMISTS

... wear smart-looking MAD straight jackets, glamorous opera capes, roomy knickers, comfortable Keds, and lightweight pith helmets which offer good protection in bad weather and provide storage space for day's lichee nuts.

MOVIES

ORDINARY CONFORMISTS

... go in for uninspired Technicolor musicals, stories with happy endings, migraine-provoking Cinemascope, and 6½-hour double features that destroy the eyes, ears, nose, throat and spine.

ORDINARY NON-CONFORMISTS

... patronize stuffy out-of-the-way movie houses that show "experimental" films, arty-type films, documentaries, and obscure foreign language pictures with the sub-titles in pidgin Swahili.

MAD NON-CONFORMISTS

... enjoy hand-cranked penny arcade machines which contain film classics like the Dempsey-Firpo fight, Sally Rand's Fan Dance, old Ben Turpin comedies, and Tom Mix pre-adult westerns.

DEMONSTRATED BY COMPARING THE HABITS OF ALL THREE GROUPS

READING

ORDINARY CONFORMISTS

... waste their time reading banal best-sellers, trashy whodunits, dull popular magazines, sensational daily newspapers, and commuter time-tables.

... go for childish science fiction novels and scientific magazines, arty paperbacks, boring literary journals, and anthologies of avant-garde poetry.

MAD NON-CONFORMISTS

... read The Roller Derby News, the pre-Civil War Congressional Record, old Tom Swift books, and back copies of Classified Telephone Directories.

PETS

ORDINARY CONFORMISTS

... raise parakeets, cocker spaniels, boxers, collies, turtles, snakes, cats, white mice, parrots and tropical fish.

ORDINARY NON-CONFORMISTS

... raise Russian wolfhounds, French poodles, Weimaraners, ocelots, minks, deodorized skunks and rhesus monkeys.

MAD NON-CONFORMISTS

... raise ant colonies, anteaters, falcons, leeches, octopii, anchovies, water buffaloes and performing fleas.

FOOD

ORDINARY CONFORMISTS

... prefer meals like on menu below.

Sam's chop house

- Tomato Juice
- Calery and Olives
- Vegetable Soup
- Sirloin Steak
- Green Peas and Carrots
- French Fried Potatoes
- Hearts of Lettuce Salad
- Apple Pie a la Mode

Sid Caesar's ten-year television career includes such memorable offerings as "Your Show of Shows", "Caesar's Hour", and "Sid Caesar Invites You." Last summer, Sid and his company appeared in a TV series for the British Broadcasting Company. And this season, Sid has been scoring in a series of critically-acclaimed high-Trendex "Chevy Specials", the first of which won the coveted Sylvania Award for "The Best Comedy-Variety Show" of the year 1958. Sid's well-known comedy characterizations include: Progress Hornsby—Jazz Musician, Somerset Winterset—Author and World Traveler, and The Professor—World's Greatest Authority on the Subject of Everything. And now, Sid Caesar, master satirist in pantomime and monologue, whose appearances make TV-viewing respectable, tries to do the same for MAD... as

All right, Professor, we'll send out for a sandwich! What kind do you want?

I want a Shrimp Cocktail, Chicken Consomme Steak and French Fried Potatoes Sandwich! I'll order my Dessert Sandwich later!

Now, I will start my lecture on Space! The next step in Space research is to get a human being to the moon! Now, as we all know, the moon is 35 miles away, and .

Excuse me, Professor! The moon isn't 35 miles away! The moon is 238,857 miles away!

How do you like that for progress? THEY MOVED THE MOON!

THE PROFESSOR LECTURES ON SPACE

WRITTEN ESPECIALLY FOR MAD BY SID CAESAR

PICTURES BY WALLACE WOOD

I would like to start tonight's lecture by asking if anyvun in the audience has a sandwich vit them.

Professor, you're here to lecture on Space. Everybody is interested in Space! Why do you need a sandwich?

You're so interested in Space! How about the space in my stomach? That's an interesting space! Don't the fact that I didn't eat yet today interest you? Everybody wants to send a fella to the moon vit equipment, und instruments, und a Brownie for pictures! I hope somevun remembers to pack him a little lunch! You ride around in that Space up there, you can vork up a big appetite!

ANGELS WITH DIRTY FACES—DON'T GO NEAR THE WATER

Vell, now that they moved it, it'll be harder to get there! I'll even have trouble getting there myself .. again.

Again? Professor, do you mean to say you've been to the moon?

Vell, I didn't mean to say it! But if I said I vas to the moon, I vas there! I know me a long time, und I don't lie!

Professor Von Orbit-macher, how did you make your trip to the moon?

on gossamer wings! It vas just vun ov those things! I ve thought a bil ov the end ov it ven ve started .. you know, you re a pretty good dancer for a fella! Let's try a dip.

Professor!
This is no time for dancing!

Vot's amatta, Charlie? Don't you like to get some fun outa life? Do a little fancy stepping? Better get your dancing in now! There's no Roseland on the moon, y'know!

Professor, you were telling us about your trip to the moon ...

Yes. Vell, I read all about the moon before I went there... and I can tell you vun thing!
The moon is overrated!

What do you mean by overrated?

Vot do I mean by overrated?
By overrated, I mean... overrated! The reason the moon is so famous is it got a good Press Agent! Und I tell you something! Somebody's cashing in on all that publicity! I could name names.

WE AND THE COLONEL AND NO TIME FOR SERGEANTS

Your sandwich will be along!
We're more interested in hearing about the moon!

That's vot's wrong! Everybody's interested in the moon! Nobody cares a person is standing here hungry!
You're the kind ov guy'll send a monkey up there in a nose cone—you'd forget to put in a few bananas, the monkey shouldn't go hungry!

So, friends... if you're interested the monkey should have a few bananas in the nose cone—send a couple dollars to Professor Ludwig Von

Professor, what documentation can you produce to substantiate your claim of a trip to the moon?

Vot kind ov a question is that from a kid? Show a little respect for an old man! Next question

Professor,
exactly how did you get to the moon?

ON THIS...

So this is a model of your space ship!

Vot model? This is it,
Charlie! It's my own
Little Sports Space
Ship! See on the front!
It's a Volksmissile!

Come now, Professor! Tell us more about the moon! People want to go there!

Vy do they want to go there for? It's all dried up vit mountains und craters! There ain't even vun hot dog stand on the whole moon! Vy should ve go there? Ve got a nice Earth here—green—it's pretty! Let's fix it up a little so a person should live better here! Then ve wouldn't be so crazy to go to the moon!

Professor, how long did it take you to get to the moon?

Don't ask how long it took to get to the moon! Better you should ask how long it took me to get across town! Let's worry a little about traffic! Right now, I can get quicker to the moon than to drive ten city blocks! Und safer, tee!

Listen! I've been answering a lot ov questions here! Now I'd like to ask a question here!

What's that, Professor?

Vot happened to my sandwich? I'm starving here already!

Professor, what, in your opinion is the biggest hindrance to our Space Program?

I'm glad you asked that. That's vun I got an answer for! Vitout a doubt, the biggest hindrance to our Space Program is THE DOG LOBBY!

The Dog Lobby?

Sure! The Dog Lobby! You know, before ve send a fella, it would be nice to send a dog up there to look around. But if ve did that, you'd hear plenty of hollering from the Dog Lobby! Send up a man . . . or a mouse . . . novun opens his mouth!

To them dog-lovers, a man and a mouse is the same thing! Vot ve need is some men-lovers they should form a People Lobby! If ve worried about men as much as ve worried about dogs, then ve'd be all right! Then man would start to be man's best friend!

And how do you get to the moon on that?

How? You see these handles here? You grab on tight, und then you light a match to the fuse here, und then . . . five-four-three-two-vun . . . you're on your way!

That's ridiculous, Professor! That won't get you to the moon!

Who cares! It'll get me a seat on the subway! I go into the subway vit my Volksmissile, und they give me plenty of room to sit! They think I'm a nut!

Vy worry about getting to the moon? Getting a seat on the subway . . . that's really important! Veli . . . Good evening, Space Fans!

We've noticed (while looking for ideas to swipe) how every successful magazine has its own distinct style. And it occurred to us how differently each of these magazines might treat the same story. Like, f'rinstance, take the story-poem "Jack and Jill" (and for MAD readers who are unfamiliar with this poem, we have reprinted it at the left): It has a boy and girl. It has romance. It has action, adventure, and even tragedy. It's a natural story for elaboration in different styles. Which brings us to this article, told in MAD's own distinct style (mainly, ridiculous!). So here then, readers, is . . .

Seventeen-year-old Jack had met seventeen-year-old Jill for the first time that summer at seventeen-year-old Camp Seven-Tee-N, and by the time the seventeenth of August rolled around, they were deliriously in love. Whenever they wanted to see each other, they'd meet behind Bunk 17, because Rule 17 made it a violation for campers of the opposite sex to fraternize. (Incidentally, Rule 18 made it a violation for campers of the same sex to fraternize!) But that didn't seem to bother Jack and Jill, because they were seventeen, and deliriously in love. And there were still seventeen days of the camping season left to be together

They had planned the camping trip to the top of the mountain for weeks, and when the big day arrived, they'd sneaked off separately, and met 17 miles up the trail.

Now, with the bottle of seventeen-year-old scotch Jack had bought with his last $17, they skipped gleefully across the fields toward the mountain, humming selections from the latest Ferlin Husky album. There was a well at the top of the mountain where they could get cool water-chasers.

Little did they realize, as they started up the mountain trail, that the day would end in tragedy for them both, Jack with seventeen stitches in his head, and Jill (continued on page 17)

OFFICIAL DETECTIVE STORIES

DOUBLE DEATH FOR 2 ILLICIT LOVERS

Why, when these two young people had almost reached the heights of ecstasy, had brutal tragedy struck?

By Seymour Ghastly, Special Investigator for OFFICIAL DETECTIVE STORIES

It was Thursday, August 12, 1938, on a hot night just outside Potrzebie, New Mexico. Jack Smith, an itinerant Professional Snooker player, and Jill Jones, his latest girl friend, were making their way slowly up a steep hill to a secluded spot where they could cool off beside a gurgling stream.

Sheriff Roy Sturdley and his deputy were quickly summoned to the scene of the hideous bloody crime.

Suddenly, about half-way up, Jack felt his right foot slide out from under him. (Subsequent investigation revealed that he'd accidentally dropped his lucky eight-ball, and had tripped over it.) He spun crazily, feeling himself falling. He flailed wildly, reaching out for Jill, trying to stop himself. Instead, he dragged the helpless girl down with him.

Their broken, mangled bodies, battered beyond recognition, and covered with blood (there, we finally got to that word you all love), were found the next morning by 31-year-old Boy Scout, Fred Furd, who was wandering through the woods, trying to find his way back to Denver, Colorado.

At the Coroner's inquest, it was learned that Jack had a Police Record dating back to January, 1932 and had been a (continued on pg. 59.)

Boy Scout Freddy Furd got more excitement than he bargained for on that Saturday hike.

THE MYSTERY PAIL

What secret had the murder victims carried up the hill, then down to their deaths?

Lucky for Jack he had a hangnail!

It took raw guts and nerves of steel to climb that mountain — but Jack did it anyway — thanks to Jill's raw guts and nerves of steel!

The mountain meant many things to many men! But to Jack Smith, Soldier of Fortune, Adventurer, and Professional Coward, it meant only one thing. Another challenge! Could he do what no man had ever done before? Could he climb "The Hill?" Would he be crazy enough to try? The answer, as far as Jack was concerned, was "No!" But the answer, as far as Jill was concerned, was

LAST

CLIMB

"Yes!" Jill was Jack's trusted guide. It was Jill who had been responsible for all of Jack's triumphs, all of Jack's fractures and cuts and scars and bleeding. It was Jill who egged him on.

Jack arose early the day of the climb, packed all of his equipment into his lucky pail, and started out. And there was Jill, right behind him, egging him on.

It was fairly easy going at first, but as they neared the top, it soon became slow and agonizing. One false move meant certain death. Many times, Jack wanted to turn back. But Jill kept egging him on heroically.

"I'll wait till she runs out of eggs! Then I'll turn back," thought Jack. But there was no chance of that. Jill always came well-supplied. And so, tortured by wind, pelted by dust, and splattered by eggs, Jack fought on.

Suddenly he screamed.

The walk up the hill was heavenly. Jill felt warm and secure in Jack's hairy arms. She also felt itchy, but it didn't matter. They talked about the future, about the little 4000-acre farm in Connecticut that Jack would buy when he graduated from Oprometry School. They talked about how they'd settle down and raise horses and chickens and cows and Rock Cornish Hens. Nobody mentioned children

They tumbled downward together, still giggling and laughing. And as they reached

JACK SMITH, THE PLAYBOY with the roving eye who was recently mixed up in a juicy scandal involving a giant, a beanstalk, and a goose (which laid a big egg), will never forget that wild night in Hollywood when he decided to do some 'moonlight climbing' with a curvaceous little starlet named Jill.

A Wild Night Ahead

The evening began with a stop at one of those famous Hollywood parties, and ended in a knock-down, drag-out, rough-and-tumble slug-fest.

The party had been going on for three days in a Sunset Strip hotel suite, and Jack had taken his blonde cutie there for a warm-up. Then he'd eased her away from the festivities and taken her for a drive... up into the Hollywood hills to a secluded spot he knew high above Mulholland Drive.

Using some flimsy excuse about getting water for his overheated Thunderbird, he coaxed Jill up the hill to the spot. All of a sudden

MODERN ROMANCES

I LOVED JACK WITH all my heart and soul and mushy stuff like that, and yet I know now that I should never have gone up that hill with him!

"Don't be a silly fool," he'd smiled. "We're only going up for water!" And he'd taken my hand in his.

I was young, and a silly fool, and I believed him. I'd closed my eyes, fighting reality, fighting my mother's warnings, fighting the cinder in my eye. And I'd gone. I'd gone with Jack. Sweet Jack. Debonair Jack. Jack, with his soft words and his flashing smile, and his snappy blue convertible pail.

It was like a dream. Just the two of us, climbing upward, arm in arm, the wind blowing our hair. I felt as though I was walking on air.

Imagine my surprise when I discovered I really was!

Suddenly, I was falling, and he was coming after me. I felt weak, helpless. Mother had told me there would be moments like this. Unfortunately, she'd neglected to tell me what to do when they occurred. The last thing I remember was Jack lunging at me, and ripping off my

It seems like every time we pick up a copy of our favorite newspaper (from the corner trash can) lately, we read that some sport, profession, or group of people has set up a new "Hall of Fame." It isn't enough that they've got Halls of Fame for baseball players, football players, and golfers. Now they've come up with a "Circus Hall of Fame," and even a "Farmers' Hall of Fame." If this keeps up, it won't be long before every glory seeking group in the country will be getting into the act, and then we'll be seeing these . .

FUTURE AND SOME

THE GARBAGE HALL OF FAME

 CAN GET IT FOR YOU WHOLESALE and CHEAPER BY THE DOZEN

Member #27—Garbageman Nifty Shlopp, of Phoenix, Arizona, originator of the famous Schlopp "Backhand Hoist." This development, a boon to the profession, now permits our garbagemen all over the country to dump their cans with one arm, leaving the other free to ward off vicious dogs and children.

Member #43—Garbageman Lester "Earplugs" Rancid, of Tulsa, Oklahoma, who captured The National Noise Record in 1939 when he woke up every member of every family in 235 consecutive homes in one morning. It was Rancid who invented the Galvanized Can Drop, now used by Garbagemen everywhere.

THE GOSSIP HALL OF FAME

Member #7—Mrs. Claudia Culvert, of York, Pennsylvania, whose back-fence gossiping set a new record in 1951 when it resulted in a whispering campaign which broke off 12 engagements, destroyed 17 marriages, and ruined the careers of 39 young men, including that of her eldest son, Irving.

Member #31—Miss Abigail Sternwallow, of Dwirp, Utah, who was responsible for the tragic Dwirp Disaster. On May 8, 1947, her gabbing tied up all telephone lines, preventing her fellow citizens from being warned of an impending flash flood, which subsequently drowned the whole community.

HALLS OF FAME OF THEIR MEMBERS

THE LOAFERS' HALL OF FAME

PICTURES BY GEORGE WOODBRIDGE

Member #9—Marvin Mung, of Buffalo, N. Y. During 1945-50 postwar boom, turned down 91 offers of employment, breaking previous record set by Kermit "Drowsy" Fingate in 1920-25. Overslept 457 consecutive days in 1955-56. Is currently thinking about writing autobiography, "Lethargy and Me."

Member #11—Lethargy Mung, Buffalo, N. Y. Only person to be kicked out of a public, private, and military school in same month for class-cutting. Became youngest member elected to Loafer's Hall of Fame in '51, being only 12 at the time. Currently trying to break father's out-of-work record.

THE BIRDWATCHERS' HALL OF FAME

Member #9—Bessie Clutz, of Oakland, who was honored for heroism on May 6, 1951, when she climbed 12,000-foot Mt. Slagg to observe the mating habits of the Blue-Tongued Eagle. A male eagle spotted her, mistook her for his mate, and carried her off. Neither have been heard from since.

Member #57—Godfrey Lipton, of Wheeling, West Virginia. On July 15, 1954, Lipton camouflaged himself as an oak tree in an effort to better observe a large flock of Pneumatic-Beaked Virginia Woodpeckers. So realistic was his disguise that 5000 of the birds immediately pecked him to death.

THE RAILROAD HALL OF FAME

Member #17—Casey Latouche, engineer, who discovered that his Nevada Central freight train, laden with explosives, was 3 hours behind schedule. Disregarding signals, he chose a shortcut down a stretch of single track, figuring to just avoid the oncoming streamliner. He was only four minutes off.

Member #55—Otis Ott, Timetable Editor, who, in May, 1902, made railroad timetable history when he introduced the footnote. Served as roving trouble-shooter, being called in whenever a timetable became too readable. Died at the hands of an enraged mob during 1911 Chicago Commuter's Riot.

THE ADVERTISING HALL OF FAME

Member #5—Felix Hither, of Hither & Yon Agency. Considered greatest idea man in ad history. Developed 3-Button Suit in '36, padded expense account in '40, the triple martini in '52, multiple ulcers in '54, bankruptcy of 16 consecutive clients in '55, and a new form of suicide in 1956.

Member #34—Styles Fernleaf, copywriter for Stepp & Ferchit. Claiming consumers should be reached when young, he designed the first big ad campaign aimed solely at babies, resulting in such slogans as "The Gauze That Refreshes!", "Ask The Kid Who Wets One!" and "Don't Be Half-Chafed!"

THE IDIOTS' HALL OF FAME

Member #6—Melvin Cowznofski. Although barred from 48 states (and Alaska will be voting any moment), he now holds a high position in our country, living atop Mt. Whitney. He currently alternates as business manager of Collier's Magazine, and manufacturing Brooklyn Dodger souvenirs.

Member #1—Alfred E. Neuman, voted "Clod of the Year" four times in succession, has maintained a spectacular record of failure throughout his life. In 1929, he got his first job on Wall Street and immediately caused the crash. Since 1956, he has been technical supervisor at Cape Canaveral, Fla.

Every time a big new movie comes out these days, we read about how many millions of dollars were spent making it. Seems like if Hollywood can't convince us that "movies are better than ever!", they can at least try to impress us with the fact that "making movies is more expensive than ever!" Unfortunately, the only thing that impresses us about this fact is that, in order to pay for its fantastic cost, each big new movie that comes out has got to pack in a huge paying audience. And in order to pack in a huge paying audience, the movie has got to appeal to all types of people. Naturally, this is almost impossible! But it doesn't worry Hollywood. Because they can always effectively publicize that big new movie by using these . . .

With A Celebrated Cast of Cinema Artists

SUBTITLES IN FRENCH, GERMAN, ITALIAN AND SANSKRIT

A motion picture that probes the unfathomable depths of human emotion in a manner which, although entertaining is also enduring, profound, and obscure. Appears relatively certain to be acclaimed as the foremost cinematic accomplishment of the current twelve month period.

BOB

BOB AND RAY DEPT.

Noting the recent trend on the part of manufacturers to put their new products, no matter what they may be, into Push-Button Pressure Cans, MAD assigned Bob & Ray's ace roving correspondent, Wally Ballew, to investigate the behind-the-scenes story of this new packaging fad. So let's go out to the Blasst Pressure Can Company in Rumney, Vermont, for an educational, on-the-spot interview, as Mr. Ballew presents his Emergencies can occur unexpectedly, at any moment. Are you prepared for them? Do you know what to do when you find someone who has been injured in an auto accident? Do you know what to do when you find someone who has passed out from sunstroke? Do you know what to do when you find someone who has become deathly ill from reading this magazine? If your answer to these questions is "No!", then don't expect any help at all from...

THE FIRST AID KIT

Every First Aider should have a First Aid Kit, plainly marked so he can use it to get right up front at the scene of an accident. You can buy such kits from local drugstores, but these are usually badly packed, poorly equipped, and smell like a hospital. The American Mad Cross First Aid Kit, however, is nicely packed, well equipped, and smells like a brewery, mainly because we swiped it from there.

TYPES OF BANDAGES

The First Aider uses bandages to hold dressings and splints firmly in place, to provide a clean protective covering for the affected part, and mainly to show the world that the First Aider has been at work. Every part of the body requires its own specific bandage.

HOW TO STOP BLEEDING

Use of Pressure Points

In the event that bandages are ineffective, bleeding may be stopped by strong finger pressure on the main artery supplying blood to the wounded part. There are 22 such pressure points on the human body, and it is important for the First Aider to know where they all are.

First Aider places his hand on proper pressure point, stops blood flow from victim's head.

HOW TO STOP SEVERE BLEEDING

Use of the Tourniquet

In cases of severe bleeding, such as after you've tried an improper pressure point, use of a tourniquet may be necessary. The tourniquet should be made and applied with extreme caution, as shown below...

Take length of folded cloth or belt, and wrap around the arm.

Tie ordinary overhand sheet bend half-hitch knot, leaving slack.

Place short stick, preferably teakwood or mahogany, on knot.

Tie bowline stevedore tautline knot around stick and tighten.

Keep turning stick until flow of blood has stopped or... ulp!

Quickly untie whole tourniquet! You've put it on the wrong arm!

FRACTURES

Fractures can be unpleasant, especially for the person who has one, if you don't know what you're doing. However, they offer the First Aider a chance to shine. Don't be alarmed if you find someone with a fracture. Remember, a bad break for him means a good one for you.

To determine if victim's arm is fractured, first hold arm out in straight position as shown above

If victim does not scream, bend arm slowly back to the original straight position for next step

If arm does not move easily into final downward position, force it until you hear a sharp crack

Next, bend arm slowly upward so that it forms a 90 degree angle with original straight position.

Next, start to bend arm downward until it again forms a 90 degree angle with the original position.

If arm moves easily, it means it was fractured to begin with. In any case, it now needs splinting

SPLINTS

Once it has been determined that a fracture (or fractures) exists, it is essential for the First Aider to immediately immobilize the limbs surrounding the broken bones. This is accomplished by applying splints to the involved areas. Below are some involved splints.

ACCIDENT FIRST AID

Once a First Aider learns, he must practice his training as often as possible. He is sure to get this practice if he is the first person at the scene of an accident. He can be sure of being the first person at the scene of an accident if he is the one that causes it.

ABRASION

Abrasion is always good accident first aid. Try using sandpaper to rub off electrical insulation.

INCISION

Incision is another very common accident first aid. Try cutting the top cellar step with a saw.

LACERATION

A dependable accident first aid, laceration of pipes leading to the gas stove can be effective.

PUNCTURE

Puncture is a proven first aid for accidents. Proper placement of nails and tacks gets results.

FRACTURE

Fracture, an accident first aid that's difficult to trace, can be used on top rungs of ladders.

DISLOCATION

Dislocation is an excellent aid to accidents. Find a sharp turn and dislocate double white line.

WHAT TO DO AT AN ACCIDENT

You discover that a car has gone through a guard rail. You note 2 victims. If you decide that you are capable of rendering first aid, begin treatment immediately.

First make sure victim is alive. Do this by checking his pulse. Remove victim's wristwatch and time his pulsebeat. Then, place his wristwatch in your pocket.

Next, make sure victim is comfortable by removing all objects from his pockets which prevent him from resting easily . . . like wallet, money clip, loose change.

Since man is suffering from minor brain concussion and simple multiple fractures of all limbs, while woman is suffering from a shock, you must treat her first.

Persons suffering shock should be treated gently and kept warm. Immediately find an article of clothing to put around her, and begin treatment to warm her up.

Once she is warmed up, she may need further attention. As this is impossible at the scene of an accident, transport her to place where such care is easily given.
